Hooters has begun offering "Hooters Happy Hour" for 12 days, Aug. 3 through Aug. 18. The hours, which will be 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. on weekdays and 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. on the weekends, are intended to entice customers to the restaurant and, hopefully, increase tips during peak times. The menu includes several cold beverages and "one of Hooters' most popular entrées," according to a press release. A number of incentives also will be offered. Hooters customer ratings will be automatically entered into the "Hooters Hotties Who Tip" sweepstakes, where one winner will be chosen every Wednesday for two months. If that winner receives enough credit card tips, he or she will win a $500 Hooters gift card. The restaurant is also partnering with Bank of America to offer a reward program. Rewards can be earned every time a customer signs up for a new checking, savings or credit card account. Customers must connect their bank account to Hooters' Rewards Network between Aug. 3 and Sept. 30 to receive the reward. Furry fandom A furry fandom is a group of people who share an interest in animals, usually anthropomorphic or toy animals. The term was coined in the 1980s by Lisa Karr, when she joined a gathering of fans of plush dolls called the Second International Furies Convention in 1987. According to her, "Furries" referred to furries at that time, and "furry" was a slang term used in fandom circles for any fan of plush dolls. The term "fursona" (see below) was coined by another furry, Gary Gygax, in the late 1970s, to describe the animal form of a fictional character, typically from

They are large, durable, and readily available for every classroom. Used by students of all ages. Printed on sturdy paper, they are perfect for displaying on bulletin boards. You can reduce paper use and save money with all-paper textbooks. In today's fast-paced society, students need everything they can get to keep pace. Paper textbooks seem to be the only affordable way to offer their students the very materials they need to succeed in their classes. However, there are many problems inherent in using paper textbooks. Toward the molecular analysis of mycobacterial strains: translation of DNA sequences into proteins and study of transcription profiles in relation to differences between Mycobacterium bovis BCG and Mycobacterium tuberculosis. The procedures used to translate DNA sequences into proteins and to study transcription profiles are described. These procedures are based on purification and partial hydrolysis of genomic DNA to nucleosides, chromatography on reversed-phase or ion-exchange matrices, and automatic translation of DNA sequences to polypeptides, followed by manual or automated purification and characterization. Studies on Mycobacterium bovis BCG and M. tuberculosis have shown marked differences in transcription profiles, indicating that differences in gene expression could be related to the specific traits of M. tuberculosis. \mathcal{L}^1_d , a closed subspace of \mathcal{L}^1_d .
