This is not the first time that a direct attack has been made against Team i-House, because on Saturday, i-House members came face to face with the Centurione family, sworn enemies of the Aragonese family. The confrontation took place outside the home of the former minister, Cristina Centurione. The dispute arises from the fact that the entire family have been indicted by the High Court of Justice of Tarragona for the alleged corruption of former judicial services and the theft of public money. Centurione and his relatives have also been implicated in more than one judicial operation carried out by the Catalan police, for forging public contracts. The direct attack on the former minister took place yesterday during the weekend after an anonymous caller informed the anti-mafia police. The arrested Centurione was dragged from his house by the police, taken to the station, handcuffed and placed in the headquarters of the vice-directorate with an armoured car. At the same time, the family of the Centurione brothers, a mother, and her husband, who were arrested by the police, were also brought to the station. Among those who organized the meeting between the Centuriones and i-House were three people who have always been loyal to the Aragonese mafia: Joan Subirà, the current group leader of the clan, Joan Díez and Amedei Mula. The day before, Joan Subirà had been the driver of the Fiat Uno in which Cristina Centurione had been arrested. The drive to social media This weekend the conflict between the Centuriones and Aragoneses was made public by some supporters of the League, who threatened to reveal the names of the suspects. Although the League and its leader, Emma Bonino, are supporters of the Centuriones, they are not going to take any initiatives against the Aragonese clan. Joan Subirà has even assumed that the retaliation will take place on social media, as the luxury car used by the Carbonell clan was left at the scene of the robbery to the garage owner, who reported it to the police. The police did not pursue the investigation on the incident and no sanctions have been issued against any party. At the beginning of the fight between the Aragoneses and Centuriones, that took place in 2010, the Centuriones left Tarragona for
