I had to turn off the internet to play this - I'm pretty sure this update is bricked by mistake. I have an early 1.0.5.2 version and my iPhone 3G, but when I start up the service, it stays on this screen for a long time, and when I start up the emulator, it just goes to the home screen. I saw this happening in my service, and am trying to figure out how it's supposed to work, so I can report it to the Developer Center. receives you scores from the server, or at least attempts to, and displays them in a separate screen (Scoreboard) right on the app. There's a minuscule possible chance it could send your score back to the server and ask it for a new one, but that'd be a sign of the app actually working. Some scores can be shown if you click a player's name (if they use the remote scoring features), but any player who hasn't done that yet should not yet see any scores in their name.
